I want I had a greater comprehension of Spanish yet from what i'll learn it sounds beautiful. Of course, no longer all of his poetry is written in Spanish, so this assortment is particularly obtainable to everyone. i Between Two Worlds like how he is in a position to write approximately miserable stuff whereas poking humor into it to lighten the mood. i might say "Pito Perez's Epitaph," "Army Between Two Worlds of profession Types," and "Song of the Gigolo" are my most sensible 3 favorites, and that i love how he used a dialect in "The Mexico-Texan." It makes it sound very authentic.
